Duration: 8 days / 7 nights

DESCRIPTION

The Prosecco Hills are located between the towns of Conegliano and Valdobbiadene in the province of Treviso in the Veneto region, in the north-east of Italy. The area is exceptional because it produces a wine of international prestige: a sparkling white wine that is exported all over the world and of which more than 90 million bottles are produced every year. In 2019, this area was recognised by UNESCO as a World Heritage Site. In the land of Prosecco, beauty and taste blend harmoniously, inviting visitors on a voyage of discovery between wineries and small towns, surrounded by terraces and vineyards, abbeys and fortresses. The last two days you will explore Sant Erasmo, a beautiful island in the Venice lagoon, and explore Venice itself. The „Strada del Prosecco“ meanders through steep slopes covered with vineyards and forests, in a beautiful landscape.

(ascent approx. 340 m, descent approx. 420 m / approx. 4 hours)

In the morning you reach Tarzo, starting point of the stage, with a transfer. Today's route alternates between nature and culture. Tarzo overlooks the Revine Lake in Valmareno between the hills of Treviso and the Venetian Pre-Alps. It is an area with castles, historic houses and Venetian villas. You walk on a ridge, which is embedded in the green forests between beech and chestnut trees. The route leads to Follina, one of the most beautiful villages in Italy.

(ascent approx. 610 m, descent approx. 560 m / approx. 5 hours)

Today's hike will take you through the characteristic hamlets along side roads completely surrounded by vineyards, small villages, typical taverns and wine cellars. A stop at Osteria Senz'Oste is a must - a famous place with unique charm. From the top you have a 180 degree panorama over the characteristic hills on which the vineyards grow on steep slopes.

It is possible to shorten from Guia by public bus to Valdobbiadene (ticket not incl.).

The area today is characterized by steep, south-facing and built-up slopes. Due to the roughness of the reliefs also called small mountains, with heights of almost 500 meters. Here is the ideal place for ripening the Glera grapes, Costa d'Oro gennant. You will see the characteristic stone houses, churches and capitals of the many rural villages, including the small church of San Gallo. Due to its convenient geographical location, Pieve di Soligo is also called the pearl of the Piave quarter.

📍 Day 5: Soligo/Pieve di Soligo - Susegana

(ascent approx. 140 m, descent approx. 200 m / approx. 3,5-4 hours)

Today will take you to a really special corner of the Prosecco hills full of landscape views and interesting architectural beauties. In Collalto, cross a panoramic line overlooking the Piave.
